Why you should support the CFEBA

The Charitable Foundation of the Energy Bar Association (CFEBA) is a non-profit charitable organization that has a unique mission of providing donations for energy-related endeavors, giving those in the energy industry the opportunity to give back.

With your help, since 2002, the CFEBA has provided support to various energy related programs focused on improving lives worldwide including:

- o electric distribution system that brought electricity to approximately 461 families in rural Bolivia
- o replace one of the seven air conditioning units on the roof of a high quality, low cost health care and human services center in Boston, MA
- o install a solar electrical system at a school in Anse d'Hainault, Haiti, which provided electricity, lights and fans to 400 students in grades 7-12 in a rural community

2017 CFEBA Fundraising Campaign

This year we have the opportunity to provide a village in Uganda access to clean water and a better life. We have partnered with Innovation: Africa to provide a solar-powered water pump to provide clean water and drip irrigation technology, which will help produce more food with less water. The families in this village are facing hunger, water shortages, disease, and death as a result of drought caused by climate change. The drought has destroyed harvests and killed livestock, increasing food prices and forcing people to drink water from any available source, no matter how unclear. Upon the completion of the project, clean water will flow for the first time to 10 taps that also will be installed in the village.

We ask for your help to make this life-changing project a reality. Please see inside for sponsorship opportunities.
