Biography

Mike Nasi is a partner with Jackson Walker LLP where he practices environmental and energy law. Mike has been practicing before state and federal environmental and energy agencies and appellate courts for 27 years. Mr. Nasi's compliance counseling, permitting, and enforcement defense work spans a wide range of federal and state energy and environmental regulatory programs. Mike is counsel for electric generation, mining, and oil and gas interests in state, regional and national litigation and policy initiatives and coordinates multi-state outreach and legislative efforts.

Mr. Nasi is invited to testify as an expert at hearings and energy policy events across the country, and is published in several trade journals on environmental and energy law and policy. Mike serves as Senior Advisor to "Life:Powered" – a national energy education initiative, as Special Counsel to the Southern States Energy Board (SSEB) and Wyoming's Energy Policy Network (EPN), as an advisory board member for North Dakota's Environmental Research Center (EERC), as a member of the Policy Advisory Board (PAB) of the Energy Council's Center for Legislative Energy & Environmental Research (CLEER), and as a guest lecturer in the "Energy Law & Policy" course at the University of Texas Law School and contributed to Rice University's "Leadership & Decision Making in the Energy Industry" course.

Mr. Nasi is a Past Chairman of the State Bar of Texas Environmental and Natural Resources Law Section and is consistently recognized on several Chambers, Who's Who and Best Lawyers in America lists, including the "Best Environmental Attorney" Award, as well as the Law 360 "Energy and Environmental Trailblazer Award" for his work on carbon capture utilization and storage (CCUS) project development and related policy initiatives.
