WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear EBA Members and Guests,

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Energy Bar Association ("EBA"), it is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2019 Annual Meeting and Conference. #EBA2019AM The EBA Professional Education Council ("PEC") has once again planned a full two-day agenda for us, addressing timely and compelling topics, with the top thought leaders in our industry as presenters. I know that you will find this year's program highly informative and thought provoking.

We will kick off the meeting on Monday with the inaugural "The Honorable Kevin J. McIntyre General Session", named in recognition of the late Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC") Commissioner and Chairman, a career-long member, leader and friend to EBA and its sister foundations. You also won't want to miss our luncheon where the newest FERC Commissioner, the Honorable Bernard L. McNamee, will be our speaker. Additionally, at lunch the EBA President's Award will be presented to Robert S. Fleishman in recognition of his service to EBA in multiple roles, including as Editor in Chief of the Energy Law Journal.

Following the first full day of programming, I hope you will join us for the Annual Fundraising Gala of the Charitable Foundation of the Energy Bar Association ("CFEBA"), "Empowering Education in Haiti", scheduled for Monday evening. With your support over the years, the CFEBA has greatly improved the lives of hundreds of people around the world through its charitable funding of life altering energy related projects. This year, the CFEBA has focused its efforts on the most impoverished nation in the Western hemisphere. By working with the established charity, Educate Haiti, the CFEBA hopes to provide solar power systems to light and cool three schools in Durissy.

After a night of good works and warm camaraderie, on Tuesday we have another full day of engaging educational sessions planned. Our annual member meeting will take place at lunch, where we will conduct association elections, recognize association and foundation leadership and present the Jason F. Leif Chapter Service Award to Daniel T. Pancamo and the inaugural Diversity and Inclusion Award to Emma F. Hand for their significant efforts on behalf of EBA. We are pleased to have as our Tuesday luncheon speaker FERC Commissioner the Honorable Cheryl A. LaFleur and an interesting closing session on electrification.

We are so very pleased to have you join us for what is sure to be an enlightening, thought provoking and entertaining Annual Meeting.

Thank you!

ANNUAL MEETING & CONFERENCE

EBA • MAY 6–7, 2019 • RENAISSANCE DOWNTOWN HOTEL, WASHINGTON, DC

Welcome to Energy Bar Association's 2019 Annual Meeting & Conference! The conference provides two full days of discussions focused on the legal issues related to all aspects of energy law. Attendees will include attorneys, energy professional professionals, and students active in all areas of energy law, including antitrust, international energy transactions, legislation and regulatory reform, electric utility regulation, alternative dispute resolution, finance and transactions, and environment and public lands at federal, state, and international levels. Each year, the EBA Annual Meeting welcomes 600 attendees and is approved for approximately 10–14 hours of MCLE credit, and an additional 1.5 hours of ethics credit.

MEETING HASHTAG: #EBA2019AM

Want a great way to say you're excited to be attending or what you learned from a discussion or to share a picture from one of the events? Let everyone know by using the #EBA2019AM.

CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION (CLE) CREDIT

Pending approval for 10–12 hours of MCLE credit, and an additional 1.5 hours of ethics credit. EBA has applied to the following states for MCLE and ethics, when appropriate: CO, FL, GA, IL, IN, KS, MN, NY, OH, OK, OR, PA, TX, VA, WI. MCLE accreditation has been (or will be) requested from states with general MCLE requirements. Each state has its own rules and regulations regarding "CLE". For questions on CLE email EBA-CLE@eba-net.org. To assure accreditation, the necessary CLE information must appear on your attendance record form to be handed in at the end of the conference. Only registered attendees are eligible for CLE.

2019 MID-YEAR ENERGY FORUM

SPECIAL EVENT

MONDAY, MAY 6, 2019 • 5:30 PM – 9:00 PM

CFEBA Annual Fundraising Gala “Empowering Education in Haiti”

*Gala Attire: Business or Festive Must be pre-registered to attend this event. No tickets will be sold onsite.

This year, in partnership with Educate Haiti, a 501(c) (3) non-profit organization, CFEBA has the special opportunity to help provide power for lights and fans for all the classrooms in the high school, elementary school and the pre-school in Durissy, Haiti. Much of the community depends on these buildings for student education, village meetings, and shelter during hurricanes. At present the building usage is dictated by temperatures and quality of light. This project will address environmentally sustainable energy needs for temperature control, extended quality light, a future computer lab and funding a library for the school and community. If you have not yet contributed, please consider supporting the energy community through a donation to the CFEBA.

FEATURED SPEAKERS

EBA is pleased to present an outstanding, experienced line-up of panel and general session speakers. Learn more about them by viewing the Speaker Biographies.

12:15 PM – 1:45 PM

Monday, May 6, Luncheon

Commissioner Bernard L. McNamee was nominated to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission by President Donald J. Trump in October 2018 and confirmed by the U.S. Senate on December 6, 2018. Before joining the Commission, Commissioner McNamee served in a number of legal and policy positions at the state and federal level throughout his career. He also served at the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) in multiple positions, including Executive Director of the Office of Policy and Deputy General Counsel for Energy Policy. Prior to that, he practiced energy law for almost nine-years total as a partner and senior counsel with McGuireWoods LLP, in Richmond, VA.

Don't Miss Your Registration Benefits

During the Conference: Access to speakers and attendees, numerous networking opportunities, meet EBA committee chairs and EBA board members, enjoy 12+ educational sessions, an opportunity to meet and learn from exhibitors, enjoy an abundance of networking time and a chance to support the charitable work of CFEBA.

After the Conference: Unlimited access to the final course material, session recordings, papers, slides, and an updated attendee list help you continue the conversation.

Keep the learning going!

12:15 PM – 1:45 PM

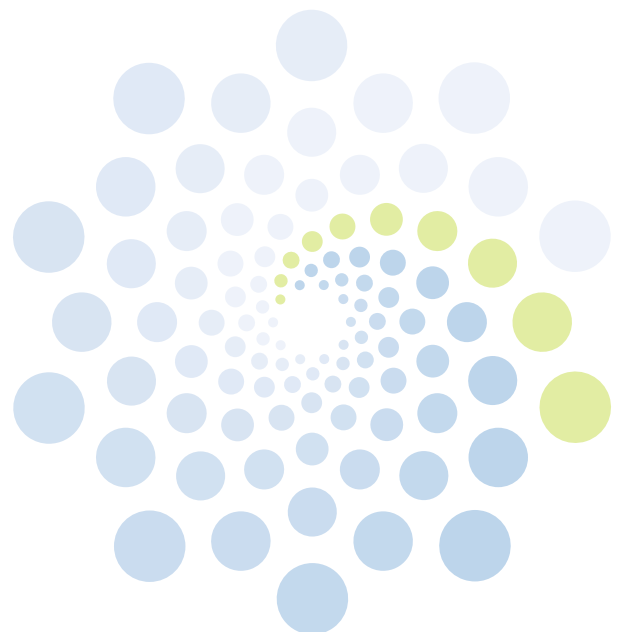

Tuesday, May 7, Luncheon

Commissioner Cheryl A. LaFleur was first nominated by President Barack Obama to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in 2010 and was confirmed for a second term by the Senate in 2014. She served as Acting Chairman of the Commission from November 2013 to July 2014 and January to August 2017 and as Chairman from July 2014 until April 2015.

Since she joined the Commission, her priorities have included reliability and grid security, supporting the development and evolution of robust competitive markets, promoting regional transmission planning, and supporting a clean and diverse power supply. She is a member of the NARUC Committees on Electricity and Critical Infrastructure and was co-chair of the FERC/NARUC Forum on Reliability and the Environment. She is a frequent speaker on energy issues.

The Honorable Kevin J. McIntyre General Session: Climate Change: What Should We Do Now?

Grand Ballroom North/Central

Many recent reports say we are facing a crisis and many argue it is critical to act now. Do Federal laws or the Green New Deal have a shot? Which ones? Which states have the most promising initiatives? What pricing approaches (e.g., carbon taxes) make sense? Can we or should we regulate away from what many say is a precipice (e.g., RPS, CAFE, EEPs, DR)? How about individual company commitments and technological advancement—are they critical? Bottom line—can we afford it all, or can we afford just to take partial measures? Come prepared to engage on these issues.

Moderator: Steven Mufson, Reporter, Washington Post

Panelists: Dr. Virginia Burkett, Chief Scientist for Climate and Land Use Change for the United States Geological Survey (USGS), U.S. Department of the Interior

Krista Johnson, Director, US Federal Government Relations, Shell Oil Company

Dr. Karl Hausker, Senior Fellow, Climate Program, World Resources Institute

Concurrent Sessions

Session A: The Disruptive Dynamics of Distributed Energy Resources

Grand Ballroom South

All indications are that we are moving to a system of more distributed energy resources (DERs). Development of home and community solar panels, microgrids, electric vehicles, and small-scale energy storage is rising. But what does this mean? How will system and utility planning need to change? What are the operational impacts and risks? How might regulators, costs and rates adjust? How quickly will investments shift, and will it differ by region? This session will highlight the complexity of orchestrating this shift to DERs, the need to anticipate that transition, and the means to manage it, without system disruption or undue costs.

Moderator: Greg Geller, Senior Director, Regulatory and Government Affairs, Enel X

Panelists:

Gregg Dixon, CEO, Voltus

Lamar Davis, VP, MISO, ldavis@misoenergy.org

Abigail Anthony, Commissioner, Public Utilities Commission

Wendy Stark, SVP, Legal and Regulatory Strategy & General Counsel, Pepco Holdings

MONDAY, MAY 6, 2019

Session B: Will the FERC (Finally!) Resolve Electric Transmission ROEs?

Congressional Ballroom A/B

In the fall of 2018, FERC addressed the D.C. Circuit remand in Emera Maine v. FERC in proceedings involving the New England Transmission Owners, MISO Transmission Owners, and several other transmission-owning companies. The resolution of these cases will significantly impact the way transmission ROEs are calculated. With the briefing in the New England and MISO proceedings set to end in April, the panelists will be poised to address:

- FERC's proposed ROE methodology
- Litigants' positions in the New England TOs and MISO TOs cases, including advocacy for additional changes
- How the financial industry views FERC's proposal

Moderator: David M. DeSalle, Partner, Potomac Law Group, PLLC

Panelists:

John P. Coyle, Partner, Duncan & Allen

Purvi Patel, Director Regulatory Strategy, ITC

Todd A. Shipman, Executive Advisor, Concentric Energy Advisors

12:15 PM – 1:45 PM

Luncheon with Honorable Bernard L. McNamee, Commissioner, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission

Grand Ballroom North/Central

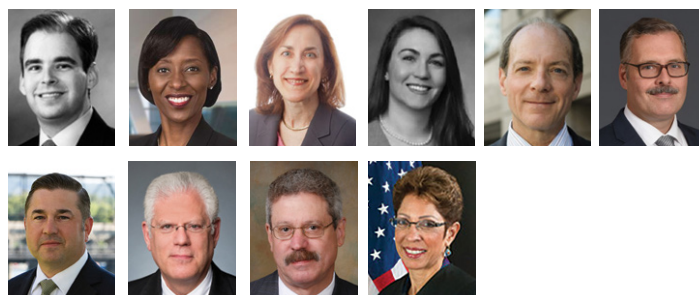

Join the Energy Bar Association for a special recognition of our volunteers and VIPs. During the luncheon, we will present the EBA President's Award. The EBA President's Award is given occasionally to an individual that has made an extraordinary contribution to the profession or the development of energy law over a long career. President's Award recipient Robert S. Fleishman, Partner, Kirkland & Ellis.

2:00 PM – 3:15 PM

Concurrent Sessions

Session A: Keep Your Practice Out of Jeopardy—It's All About Ethics

Grand Ballroom South

This year, two teams of three energy practitioners will go head-to-head in a jeopardy-style legal ethics trivia challenge. Be ready to cheer your favored team to a win in the following categories: "the client lawyer relationship," "practice before FERC," "oops I didn't mean to upload that," "conflicts of interest," and "new and improved." Bar counsel and a FERC Administrative Law Judge will judge the responses and answer participant and audience questions. Everyone wins in the end, by walking away with real answers from the experts on ethical challenges facing today's energy practitioners.

Moderator: Sam Brumberg, Association Counsel, Virginia, Maryland & Delaware Association of Electric Cooperatives

Jeopardy Contestants:

Adrienne Clair, Partner, Thompson Coburn LLP

Susan Olenchuk, Partner, Van Ness Feldman LLP

Emma Hand, Partner, Dentons US LLP

Jon Schneider, Partner, Stinson Leonard Street LLP

Matt Rudolphi, Shareholder, Duncan, Weinberg, Genzer & Pembroke, P.C.

Bob Weishaar, Chair of Energy & Environmental Group, McNees Wallace & Nurick LLC

Judges:

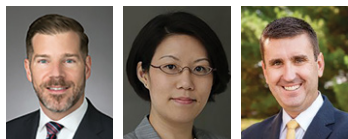

Saul Jay Singer, Senior Legal Ethics Counsel for the District of Columbia Bar

Seth Guggenheim, Assistant Ethics Counsel, Virginia State Bar

The Honorable Carmen Cintron, Chief Administrative Law Judge, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission

MONDAY, MAY 6, 2019

Session B: LNG Exports Congressional Ballroom A/B

Export of LNG is substantially impacting both foreign and domestic markets for the supply and transportation of natural gas. The process of developing such projects ties into domestic and foreign gas supply, and requires interconnection with domestic sources of natural gas supply and transportation, all of which can profoundly impact natural gas prices and associated transportation rates. The federal regulatory overlays associated with these commercial issues can be complex. An esteemed panel from will discuss current trends in LNG project development, how the federal regulatory process impacts such projects, and predictions for the future.

Moderator: David Wochner, Partner, K&L Gates

Panelists:

Jane Nakano, Senior Fellow, Energy and National Security Program Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS)

Charlie Riedl, Vice President, NGSA and Executive Director, Center for LNG

Michael Weber, Senior Advisor for Energy Policy and Economic Relations, Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany

3:45 PM – 5:00 PM

Concurrent Sessions

Session A: RTO Governance: The Board Perspective

Grand Ballroom South

Every RTO/Independent System Operator has established governance structures to meet their unique needs. The Boards of Directors of each of these organizations play a critical role in managing and providing strategic guidance and oversight. This panel of esteemed past and present Board members will explore the structure, roles and responsibilities of their respective organizations' Boards exploring such issues as: how the Board is organized; the role of the Board relative to RTO/ISO management; and, how the Board interacts with RTO/ISO members and stakeholders, their market monitoring units, and other third parties. The panel will also discuss how their Boards are helping to shape the strategic direction of each organization.

Moderator: David Doot, Partner and Chair of Energy and Utility Department, Day Pitney LLP

Speakers:

Barney Rush, Board Member, ISO New England

Mike Curran, Former Chair MISO Board and Current Board Member, ISO New England

Howard Schneider, Former Chair PJM Board and Senior Consultant, Charles River Associates

Barbara J. Krumsiek, Former President and Chief Executive Officer, Calvert Investments Inc.

Session B: Offshore Wind Energy: Partnerships, Development and US Jones Act

Congressional Ballroom A/B

Learn about legal issues surrounding transmission lines in federal, state, local waters; U.S. Jones Act application to offshore wind farms, and the role of the federal regulators; and Coast Guard and Customs and Border Protection responsible for ensuring compliance with these laws.

General Session

Natural Disasters and Utility Infrastructure

Grand Ballroom North/Central

Fires, floods, tornadoes, hurricanes, earthquakes, and snowstorms take a toll on life, property, and utility infrastructure. Faced with demands for business continuity and a return to normalcy, utilities are being challenged to meet higher expectations for system resiliency and recovery while also ensuring just and reasonable rates. This session will discuss NERC requirements that must be met, as well as cost-effective policies, engineering practices, and new technologies available to address natural disasters and improve system efficiencies while also making the most of ratepayer dollars.

Moderator: Floyd Self, Partner, Berger Singerman

Panelists:

Shannon Pierce, VP Operations, Nicor Gas

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Session A: Innovation in FERC Hearing Processes

Grand Ballroom South

Hearings are impractical anytime the amount in controversy is less than the cost of litigation. This panel discusses an innovative hearing format that would address this problem by suggesting an example of a “minitrial,” mentioned in Rule 604; and amending Rule 218 to provide similar structure for complaint cases with $1M or less at issue.

The panel also explains the mechanics of a two-party auction, for use in settlement proceedings. The auction may be used to settle any dispute that can be quantified, e.g., rate or reactive power cases.

Moderator: The Honorable John P. Dring, Administrative Law Judge, FERC

Panelists:

Jeffrey Jakubiak, Partner, Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP

Steve Pearson, Partner, Spiegel & McDiarmid LLP

TUESDAY, MAY 7, 2019

Session B: Pipeline Security

Congressional Ballroom A/B

Natural gas pipelines collaborate with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Transportation Security Administration ("TSA") and the U.S. Department of Transportation ("DOT") on cybersecurity risks and potential cyberattacks pursuant to DOT's 2002 Pipeline Security Information Circular and TSA's 2018 revised Pipeline Security Guidelines, adopting the National Institute of Standards and Technology ("NIST") Framework for Improving Critical Infrastructure Cybersecurity. These guidelines are voluntary, leading some asking Congress to enact mandatory standards given the growth in cybersecurity threats. A panel of experts will discuss the legal landscape for natural gas pipelines and how cyber threats are changing the way they do business.

Moderator: Rebecca Gagliostro, Director of Security, Reliability and Resilience, INGAA

Panelists:

Paul Davis, VP for IT Cybersecurity and Telecommunications, Kinder Morgan, Inc.

Dr. Paul N. Stockton, Managing Director, Sonecon, LLC

Ron Keen, Senior Energy Advisor, National Risk Management Center, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, U.S. Department of Homeland Security

2:00 PM – 3:15 PM

Concurrent Sessions

Session A: Electric Transmission Investment and Order 890

Grand Ballroom South

Roughly half of all electric transmission capital expenditures in CAISO, MISO, and PJM are for repair or replacement of existing facilities. Today, this work receives varying levels of third-party review through state and RTO/ISO processes. Incumbent transmission owners determine the manner and timing for replacement of aging transmission infrastructure. Panel members will discuss the implementation of recent FERC orders on these issues and whether existing oversight of transmission investment is sufficiently transparent to ensure cost effective solutions, grid safety and reliability, the promotion of competition, and the deployment of grid modernization technologies.

Moderator: Aspasia Staevska, Assistant Counsel, Law Bureau Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission

Panelists:

Lisa McAlister, Sr. Vice President and General Counsel, American Municipal Power (AMP)

Katharine (Katie) Mapes, Partner, Spiegel & McDiarmid, LLP

Judy Chang, Principal, The Brattle Group

Gary Guy, Assistant General Counsel, Exelon Corporation

TUESDAY, MAY 7, 2019

Session B: Stakeholder Involvement in Pipeline Infrastructure Development—Best Practices

Congressional Ballroom A/B

Gas and oil pipeline infrastructure projects have become increasingly controversial, although some projects seem to proceed more smoothly than others. Are there best practices for stakeholder involvement that can make a difference and result in a win/win for all or are there inevitable conflicts between pipeline infrastructure development, climate and other environmental impacts, environmental justice and other local landowner issues? This panel will explore these issues from the perspective of pipelines, stakeholders, and regulators.

Moderator and Speaker: David Hanobic, Outreach Coordinator, Office of Energy Projects FERC

Grand Ballroom South

Broadly, electrification is the shift to electricity at the point of consumption. New and improving technologies (e.g., EVs; storage and data farms; more industrial uses); the move to renewables; rising levels of distributed energy; and real customer preferences (e.g., on line shopping) are driving increasing electrification across the US. All this makes us even more reliant on secure supplies of power. If electrification is inexorable, then what are the impacts and possible risks for customers, companies, and policymakers to take into account? How or should regulators and legislators attempt to guide this transition in the market, and if so, how?

About FELJ

Since 1980, the Energy Law Journal (ELJ) has provided great value to the Energy Bar Association's members. The Journal provides in-depth analyses on current, salient issues affecting members and their clients and businesses and provides a forum for the exploration and understanding of new, cutting edge issues. The Journal is a benefit to EBA members and subscriptions are available to non-EBA members. In 1986, the Foundation of the Energy Law Journal (FELJ) was created to manage the funding and business of the ELJ. For more information, please go to EBA-Net.org/felj/.

DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

The Energy Bar Association ("EBA") is committed to the goals of fostering an inclusive and diverse membership and increasing diversity across all levels of the Association. Attorneys and energy professionals in the energy field are welcome to join our ranks, regardless of race, creed, color, gender (including gender identity or expression), sexual orientation, family and marital status (including pregnancy), family responsibilities, religion, national origin, age, personal appearance, political affiliation, veterans status, disability, source of income (government, solo, corporate, firm practice), or place of residence or business (geographic diversity) and are encouraged to become active participants in the Association's activities.

America's Electric Cooperatives

We inspire communities
with a new kind of power

Electric cooperatives are committed to rural America. They are owned by the communities they serve. More than 100 electric co-ops are working toward meaningful solutions to provide broadband services and bridge the digital divide.

Rural communities cannot thrive without affordable energy and broadband access. By supporting the deployment of high-speed internet access in, electric co-ops are providing new opportunities for their communities.
