

In-House Counsel Coalition (IHC) Charter

The In-House Counsel Council is a platform through which in-house counsel work to serve the common interests of this group on an ongoing basis. For example, the ICC could consider putting on programming that would specifically appeal to in-house counsel, including perhaps a stand-alone program outside of DC; it could consider creating a database of resources that in-house counsel would find useful; it could host networking events for in-house counsel to network with one another, FERC staff and other energy professionals.
