

Josh Robertson is the Director of Energy Market Strategy with the Salt River Project (SRP) in Phoenix, Arizona. In his current role he is responsible for the development and implementation of SRP's enterprise-wide strategy for participation in new energy markets and regional transmission organizations. Josh has held various positions at SRP, the most recent of which was in the public affairs space where he oversaw state, regional and federal regulatory policy at SRP. Josh has a background in Resource Planning where he led SRP's economic modeling team as well as the due diligence assessments and asset purchase negotiations for plant acquisitions. Prior to joining SRP, Josh was a Policy Advisor with the Public Utility Commission of Texas. He holds an M.A. in Economics from New Mexico State University with a specialization in Public Policy and Regulation.