

Paige Espy is a General Attorney for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). Prior to this role she worked within the Projects Section of FERC's Office of General Counsel, focusing on Commission orders concerning hydroelectric and natural gas pipeline projects. She graduated from Duke University School of Law.