

Joseph A. WitkowskiDirector, Technology Innovation

Joe Witkowski is a highly accomplished innovation leader with over a decade of experience in software development. His reputation as a talented IT professional has enabled him to serve multiple markets including government, finance, energy, and transportation. Mr. Witkowski has also been involved in the architecture of multiple blockchain proof of concept designs. He brings this expertise to a team focused on the construction of an enterprise blockchain system that is positioned to transform the energy industry.

Presently, Mr. Witkowski works at The Energy Authority (TEA) as the Director of Technology Innovation where he works with key external and internal players to ensure that TEA is at the leading edge of technology and positioned to continue providing outstanding service to our clients in the midst of industry disruption.