

2016 FELJ Mogel Intern Chase Snodgrass Recounts Summer to Remember

This summer I interned for Congressman Markwayne Mullin in Washington, D.C. I would not have been able to pursue this opportunity without the generous support of the Foundation of the Energy Law Journal. I am grateful for the FELJ's support and commitment to this program.

As a student member of the Energy Law Journal I am particularly interested in the area of energy law and policy. While working for Congressman Mullin I had the opportunity to pursue these interests, as he is a member of the Energy and Commerce Committee. Further, Congressman Mullin is a Conferee to House and Senate Energy Conference. Because of Congressman Mullin's position as a Conferee I was able to work directly with full-time staff on policies that could make a real difference in energy law.

While working as an intern I also had the opportunity to attend the Energy Bar Association's Annual Conference, where I met current and former members of the Energy Law Journal. I even had the opportunity to meet Bill Mogel, whom my FELJ sponsored internship is named after!

I will never forget the summer I spent in Washington, D.C. working at our nation's capitol. I am extremely grateful for the FELJ's support and to all those who helped make it happen. Now lets just hope Congress can agree on some bipartisan energy policies!
